

The heatmap displays the relationship between various variables and a target variable. The color scale ranges from dark green (low) to dark red (high). The variables are listed on the y-axis, and the target variable is on the x-axis. The heatmap shows that 'Age' and 'Gender' have a strong positive correlation with the target variable, while 'Marital Status' and 'Education' have a strong negative correlation.

